

Ion-Mihai Felea, PhD Student

A Chişinău-born Romanian with a good command of English and Russian, passable German and (understanding of) Church Slavonic, basic French and Polish. Has a BA in Philosophy, MA in General Linguistics, currently enrolled in a PhD program with a thesis concerning the Slavonic influence on early Romanian Biblical Texts.

Has been a Quizmaster and event planner since 2012. Hence, has synthetic, though superficial, knowledge on a larger than usual number of topics. Editor of the Handbook of Intellectual Games (Manualul de Jocuri Intelectuale), two volumes so far.

His research interests range from General Linguistics, Old Romanian and Old Church Slavonic to Medieval Romanian and Slavonic Manuscripts.

Research Project:

The First Romanian Bilingual Dictionaries \(17th Century\). Digitally Annotated and Aligned Corpus (Research project for young independent teams, CNCS-UEFISCDI, code PN-III-P1-1.1-TE-2019-0517, 2020–2022; directed by dr. Mădălina Ungureanu).
